2. Claim rejection is withdrawn as being satisfied.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

3. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

4. Claims 1-4 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Fujimoto (USPN 6,466,524).
5. Regarding Claims 1-4, Fujimoto shows (Fig. 1) a disc recording and/or reproducing apparatus comprising a catching means (Fig. 25, (92)) for catching a disc to a first location comprising at least two plate springs (92) which presses a face of a circumferential portion of the disc in different locations for catching a disc, the catching means being provided in a disc mounting means for mounting the disc, a releasing means (Fig. 29, (121,122)) for releasing a caught condition of the disc caught by the catching means from the first location after setting the disc to a turntable whereby the seated location is not offset in a planar direction of the disc during the setting, and a separating means (Fig. 29, (56)) for separating the disc mounting means from the disc in a condition that the disc is set on the turntable.
